

Natasha Meyers Esq. The Meyers Law Group, P.C.

Most people are not thinking about law school after having their third child, but Huntington matrimonial and family law attorney Natasha Meyers is not like most people. Self-made and from New York City, for her, “no” is simply a catalyst for change. That’s why, after she honed her litigation skills at one of the most prestigious law firms on Long Island, she made the bold move to start her own practice. Today, The Meyers Law Group, P.C. focuses on matrimonial and family law and has become one of Long Island’s most successful law firms.

The flexibility inherent in owning and operating her own practice allows Meyers and her dedicated team to take a holistic approach to each client and concentrate on more complex and contested cases.

Family law and divorce cases, pre-nuptial agreements, paternity issues, post judgment litigation, visitation and child support matters are some of the most complicated, contentious and emotional areas of practice. As a beacon in some of its clients’ darkest times, The Meyers Law Group, P.C. offers the highest standards of legal care and individualized attention — whether that’s navigating the often overwhelming marriage dissolution process, negotiating out-of-court settlements or litigating successfully in court.

The same flexibility that ownership provides Meyers professionally also extends to her work/life balance and commitment to giving back to the communities she serves. She considers it both a duty and privilege to make a positive difference in the lives of her clients and community, as well as through her pro bono work.
